From the moment she was born, Sarah knew she was different. Her mother was a free spirit, a wanderer who couldn't stay in one place for long. Her father was a traditionalist, a man who believed in roots and family. Sarah was caught in the middle, always feeling like she didn't belong.

When Sarah was a teenager, her mother left home. Sarah was devastated. She didn't understand why her mother would choose to leave her behind. Years later, Sarah's father passed away. Sarah was once again alone.

Lost and adrift, Sarah decided to embark on a journey to find her mother. She traveled across the country, from her childhood home in California to the bustling streets of New York City. Along the way, she met a cast of unforgettable characters who helped her to understand herself and her family.

Sarah's journey is a story of loss and redemption, of family and forgiveness. It is a story that will resonate with anyone who has ever felt lost or alone.
