As spring arrived, casting a warm glow upon the forest, Uni noticed that her friends were feeling a bit down. The playful squirrels couldn't find enough nuts to fill their bellies, and the cheerful birds couldn't find a suitable place to build their nests. Determined to help, Uni embarked on a journey to bring the joy of spring to her beloved friends.

Guided by her twinkling horn, Uni discovered a hidden spring bubbling with crystal-clear water. Its magical properties had the power to bring new life and abundance to the forest. With a gentle touch, Uni invited her friends to drink from the spring, and to their delight, their spirits soared.

The squirrels scampered among the trees, their bellies full of newfound energy. The birds sang sweet melodies, their nests nestled safely in the branches of towering oaks. The forest echoed with laughter and joy, a testament to Uni's selfless act of kindness.

But Uni's generosity didn't end there. As she continued her journey, she encountered a group of lost and weary travelers. Their faces etched with exhaustion, they had wandered aimlessly through the forest for days. Without hesitation, Uni offered them shelter beneath her majestic mane and shared her magical spring water with them.
